

SSASEA - SOCIAL SCIENCE AND THE SEA. THE FUTURE OF MARITIME RESEARCH
International Workshop

Department of Sociology, University of Zadar, 17-18 April 2015

Friday 17 April

- 9.30-10.00 Introductory words and welcome address from Saša Božić, Head of the Department of Sociology
Emilio Cocco, Academic director of the SSASEA network, University of Teramo
Željka Tonković, Executive director of the SSASEA network, University of Zadar
- 10.00-10.45 Emilio Cocco, University of Teramo
Reflecting the Sea/Land Distinction: World Society and the Sea
- 10.45-11.30 Karolina Follis, University of Lancaster
Surveillance of the Sea in European Migration Management
- 11.30-11.45 Coffee Break
- 11.45-12.30 Jan Asmussen, Kiel University
Heligoland-island Identities between the Sea, the Lion and the Eagle
- 12.30-13.15 Sven Marčelić, University of Zadar
Croatian Development Index and Islands: Insularity and the Problem of Island
Development
- 13.15-14.45 Lunch break
- 14.45-15.30 Giacomo Orsini, University of Essex
Bottom-up Strategies for a Sustainable Fishery: The Case of the Fishermen
Association of Gran Tarajal
- 15.30-16.45 Documentary film: 'Once the Sea Was Covered with Water - European Fisheries
at the Edge'
Discussion with the film author – Lorenzo Sibiriu
- 16.45-17.00 Coffee break
- 17.00-19.00 Joint research project – discussion and preparation

Saturday 18 April

9.30-12.00

Doctoral Workshop – discussion with the doctoral students of the Joint International PhD
Programme 'Sociology of Regional and Local Development'

Ideas, theories and methodologies for PhD thesis