Learning outcomes

The course develops the following generic competencies:

- a) instrumental competencies: cognitive abilities; understanding and dealing with ideas and concepts
- b) interpersonal competencies: ability of critical argumentation; ability of criticism and self-criticism
- c) systematic competencies: individual work; ability to compare different approaches and knowledge structures, critical thinking; development of an interdisciplinary approach

Course-specific competencies: ability to interpret the basic linguistic units on the level of meaning; critical thinking towards traditional and contemporary theoretical frameworks within which the semantic phenomena are analyzed.

By the end of the course students will be able to:
- define and interpret basic semantic notions
- analyze relations between different linguistic structures (phonological, morphological and syntactic) and the semantic dimension of language
- interpret the relevance of linguistic usage and extralinguistic context in the analysis of meaning
- analyze similarities and differences between specific theoretical frameworks within which semantic phenomena are interpreted

Learning outcomes at the Programme level
- recognize and describe relevant ideas and concepts
- connect different approaches and knowledge frameworks through an interdisciplinary approach
- assess and use semantic theories in the interpretation of the semantic dimension of language and in solving communication problems

Conditions for permission to take the exam
Class attendance (70%) and accepted seminar paper.
Note: Seminar topics should be discussed with the teacher during office hours. Students are required to hand in the first version of the seminar paper by the beginning of 13th week of class the latest. Seminar papers (2000 – 2500 words in length) are to be written in pairs and in accordance with APA style.

Course description
The aim of the course is to introduce the basic concepts and relations that emerge within a range of semantic phenomena. Students are acquainted with the traditional and contemporary theoretical frameworks within which such phenomena are analyzed. The phenomena are analyzed on the lexical, paradigmatic and syntagmatic levels.

Course content

Lectures:

1. Introduction to semantics as a linguistic discipline – A brief historical overview and relationship with other disciplines

2. Characteristics and types of linguistic meaning

3. Analysis of the linguistic sign (de Saussure, Ogden and Richards)
Reference

Sense relations I: Synonymy and antonymy

Sense relations II: Homonymy, polysemy and hyponymy

Mid-term test

Meaning of lexemes – componential analysis

Semantic fields

Metaphor and metonymy

Collocations and idioms

Cognitive semantics; categorization and prototype theory

Semantics and syntax; semantics and pragmatics

14. Meaning and logic

15. End-term test

Seminars:

1. Differences between speaker meaning and sentence/word meaning

2. Basic syntactic-semantic units – sentence, utterance, proposition

3. Components of word meaning – reference

4. Predicates and deixis

5. Absolute synonyms; levels of differentiation

6. Distinguishing between homonymy and polysemy

7. Mid-term test

8. Decomposition of the meaning of lexemes
9. Types of semantic fields

10. Traditional and cognitive approaches to metaphorical meaning

11. Contrastive analysis of collocations and idioms

12. Prototype theory and semantic fields

13. Speech acts, perlocution, illocution, conversational implicatures

14. Logic and meaning

15. End-term test

Calculation of final grade
50% mid-term test and 50% end-term test or 100% final written exam

Note: Accepted seminar paper is a prerequisite for obtaining the signature, but is not a component in the formation of the final grade. The final grade represents the combination of the results obtained on the mid-term exam (50%) and end-term exam (50%). Students who do not pass both the mid-term and end-term exams have to take the final written exam.

Note / Other

In accordance with Art. 6 of the Code of Ethics of the Committee for Ethics in Science and Higher Education, “the student is expected to fulfil his/her obligations honestly and ethically, to pursue academic excellence, to be civilized, respectful and free from prejudice.”

According to Art. 14 of the University of Zadar’s Code of Ethics, students are expected to “fulfil their responsibilities responsibly and conscientiously. […] Students are obligated to safeguard the reputation and dignity of all members of the university community and the University of Zadar as a whole, to promote moral and academic values and principles. […]”

Any act constituting a violation of academic honesty is ethically prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to:

- various forms of fraud such as the use or possession of books, notes, data, electronic gadgets or other aids during examinations, except when permitted;
- various forms of forgery such as the use or possession of unauthorised materials during the exam; impersonation and attendance at exams on behalf of other students; fraudulent study documents; forgery of signatures and grades; falsifying exam results.

All forms of unethical behaviour will result in a negative grade in the course without the possibility of compensation or repair. In case of serious violations the Rulebook on Disciplinary Responsibility of Students at the University of Zadar will be applied.

In electronic communications only messages coming from known addresses with a first and a last name, and which are written in the Croatian standard and appropriate academic style, will be responded to.

This course uses the Merlin system for e-learning, so students are required to have an AAI account.
