

Branko Kasalo

Branko Kasalo, MA was born in Split on December 6, 1986. He finished his primary and secondary education in Solin and Split respectively. He graduated from secondary school in 2005. The same year he enrolled the University of Zadar, where he started undergraduate history programme, and in 2008 he proceeded to graduate study of history. He got his bachelor degree in 2010 and began postgraduate study course of Jadran – poveznica među kontinentima at the same university.

During 2011 he occasionally worked as substitute teacher in a number of secondary schools. Since January 2012 he works as an assistant teacher at the University of Zadar, Department of History, where he participates in teaching undergraduate programme courses Svjetska povijest 1918.-1945. and Svjetska povijest poslije 1945.

In December 2012 he defended the synopsis of his PhD thesis entitled Međunarodni pogledi na krizu u Jugoslaviji od 1980. do 1987 [International views of the Yugoslav crisis 1980 - 1987]. He participated in several scientific conferences.