

CEEPUS International Summer School

Department of Geography, University of Zadar organized, through the CEEPUS mobility program, International Summer School “Regional development and climate change – geographic perspectives” which was held from 4th to 15th of September in Zadar. Department had the opportunity to host 23 teachers, doctoral students and students from ten partner universities and seven countries: University of Sarajevo from Bosnia and Herzegovina, Charles University in Prague, Mendel University in Brno, Palacky University in Olomouc from Czechia, University of Prishtina from Kosovo, University of Krakow from Poland, University of Oradea from Romania, University of Ljubljana and University of Maribor from Slovenia and University of Novi Sad from Serbia. Participants had the opportunity to learn about Department of Geography and University of Zadar projects, present their work and to take part in lectures and workshops concerning climate change. Furthermore, guided tour of City of Zadar was organized for all attendees. Also, during the summer school field trip to Vrana lake and Nin saltworks were organized where participants learned about challenges posed by the climate change.

